

It's happening in Tees Valley!

2010 sees the arrival of the Tall Ships, where Hartlepool plays host to the finishing line of this magnificent, not-to-be-missed event.

The town will welcome up to 125 tall ships in 2010 after being chosen by race organisers Sail Training International to be the finishing point for the race.

Hartlepool will greet the ships, which will have sailed from Kristiansand in Norway on the second and final leg of the race.

The Tall Ships' Races
Hartlepool
7 - 10 August 2010
we're part of it!
Organised by Sail Training International

Hartlepool already has good links with tall ships after almost 40 vessels visited Hartlepool in 2005 en-route to Newcastle.

During their stay, the ships will be berthed in Jackson Dock and Hartlepool Marina and there will be a host of special events organised in celebration. With four days packed full of exciting activities, culminating in a spectacular Parade of Sail, Tall Ships 2010 in Hartlepool is a must for any North East itinerary.

For more information and ideas on how to incorporate Hartlepool Tall Ships in your itinerary, visit www.hartlepooltallships2010.com

Passionate about group travel

north east england